

Low cost Dating - Easy to fool

*“ Dating is all about the chase “
~ Lauren Conrad*

I recall my days of studentship when the dating concept was not there. That time it was a situation when the dating concept was remotely there and you can rarely imagine a situation when you are on the roof top of the building and the girl while going to the college looks up. That eye contact of friction of seconds was dating. There were no mobiles no computers and no telephone connection in most of the houses. The communication between a boy and girl was confined to the time they spend during college.

The library was the only place for meeting and talking. When you developed liking for a girl and she has the same feeling the communication was in the form of exchanging notes you may call it as love letter. The medium was exchange of books and in case the affair is confirmed then the requirement was to make friendship with the younger brother of the girl to act as messenger for your love letters that to costly one because you had to fulfill his demands like giving chocolate, gifts , and what not. I do not think that in today age there is any relevance to this situation because now you have, mobile phones video call computer Skype and the metros where large number of places are there where you can have privacy for meeting the girl.

Gone are the days when a young boy was spending time to have a date with a girl. It was really a difficult task to make girlfriends because so many factors were involved. Personal choice likes and dislikes appearance personality and overall impression were the parameters to impress the girl. The dating concept was famous in metros because small town still have some old values which are in practice and it is still not easy for a boy to meet a girl in public places. Somehow, they feel comfortable in whatsapp, video call, Skype, or other social sites.

Let us see what is happening in metros come to Chennai Adyar, Besannagar, phoenix mall, Marina beach. You will find young boys and girls being in isolated places away from the eye of public hugging kissing and talking personal things. Come to Mumbai the list of places is quite large Aarya park, National park, kanheri caves, elephant caves zoo beach, Gateway of India everywhere boys and girls wondering here and there aimlessly searching for the places. Come to Calcutta Nikko park, millennium park, Medan, Howrah bridge and so more places where the dating is quite common. It's not limited to kissing and hugging because over a period of time the younger generation has lost the meaning of character . Having sex has been taken as a play and entry into the sexual act is becoming quite common, they do not feel any guilt. They consider it as a sign of being cool .Delhi is capital of country which is slowly turning into the crime capital. There most common dating sites like Buddha jayanti garden, Deer park, Mahaveer garden, Connaught place, Qutub Minar, Lodhi garden Humayun tomb but the boys and girls are fearful to have a date in these places because of prevailing crime situation Billa ranga and Geeta sanjay murder is still alive in the memories of the people of my age. I do not know if younger generation is aware about the dating at these places.

This article is aiming to make you aware about the latest trend of dating which are really unique and innovative it is the result of computer age which has given the access to people across the globe. Yes I am talking about matrimonial sites with advanced computer programming and marketing. The idea is good to have selection of life partner the profile of old man at the age of 60 looking for a widow people from all walks of life are registered there is no registration fee in the beginning but for having a contact details you need to pay them a good sum , you may say anything about you it is not mandatory to verify your statements you must be thinking how these matrimonial sites are linked with dating is quite a interesting practice which is gaining popularity as risk free option to make girlfriends.

Now what I am going to write is based on real life situation as told by my students across the country in a strict confidence as a matter of confession , now the game is starts ;the boy writes his qualification as B.tech from IIT Bombay and MBA IM Ahmadabad working in MNC 50 Lakh per annum now every day more than 100 acceptance comes on his computer with full details. Now there are cases where he get the call or mail or SMS from the parents, his simple answer is first I would like to know the girl to match the compatibility so let me talk to her on telephone or on whatsapp or Skype the parents of the girl have no reason to doubt about the truth behind this request made by the boy because of strong credential the family background is also shown as upper ,middle class with business and the only son with no brother and sister. It's a happy go lucky situation for the boy when chatting is allowed. The boy selects 5 to 10 girls and develops good communication between them. Now the stage comes for dating depending upon the repo developed by him with the girl as prospective groom. The girls are mostly professional with broad outlook and many have boy friend already. At this stage also the parents who are greatly influenced by the profile of the boy do not find any reason to disallow the girl in meeting the boy in some mall, coffee shop etc now the process start with one date second date and so on. In some cases the limit are crossed upto physical relationships.

It's quite interesting to know these episodes from the mouth of my students when I asked about the fate of these encounters and the general answer comes , Sir It is very easy to quit ones the relationship is old or on the pretext of mismatching of the horoscopes and disagreement of parents . I really get surprised and feel about this dirty business of dating in the name of matrimony for which the sights are responsible who register the boy or girl without verification.

The matter is not ending here when I asked the persons behind the developers of these sights they have simple answer ;Sir it is our business we are just giving the platform to people so that they can interact and we cannot have any control what goes on in the process. As far as verification is concerned we do it for the price so where we are wrong?
